

Wildlife tourism and conservation of biodiversity in parks

Sydney, 11 November 2014

Hosted by Wildlife Tourism Australia Inc.
and the Office of Environment and Heritage

A parallel event for the World Parks Congress
(one day before start of Congress)

Delegates will discuss the following in roundtable discussion groups and then join in a final plenary discussion

- how can we ensure the conservation of biodiversity with increase in visitation?
- how can we best use both old and new technologies for low-impact wildlife viewing?
- under what circumstances should interaction with wildlife be allowed?
- what research is most urgently needed?

Major ideas, information and further queries arising from this will be posted on the WTA website:

WHERE? Office of Environment and Heritage at 59 Goulburn Street
(a short walk from Central Station, Sydney)

WHEN? 2.00-5.00pm, Tuesday 11th November 2014 (optional networking dinner at own expense – details TBA on WTA website)

FREE ENTRY, but please RSVP chair@wildlifetourismaustralia.org.au by 30th October

Visit: <http://www.wildlifetourism.org.au/wildlife-tourism-workshop-in-sydney-november-2014/>

nationalparks.nsw.gov.au